

Cable trays without drilling

Article Overview

Non-drilling cable trays can be installed using clamps, adhesive tape, or magnetic mounts, offering flexible, damage-free cable management for desks and workspaces.

Clamp-On Cable Trays

Clamp-on trays attach directly to the edge of a desk or tabletop without drilling. They are ideal for standing desks or rental furniture because they leave no marks and can be repositioned easily. Most clamps fit desk thicknesses between 0.4 and 2 inches and can support power strips and multiple cables securely. Some trays, like the Mzmaxy 25-inch model, provide ample space for large power strips while remaining stable under load .

Adhesive or Tape-Mount Solutions

For surfaces where clamps are impractical, strong adhesive or double-sided tape can hold cable trays in place. These require a clean, flat surface for proper adhesion and are best for lighter loads. They are convenient for temporary setups but may be less durable on moving desks or uneven surfaces .

Magnetic or Hook-Based Trays

Some cable trays use magnetic mounts or hook systems to suspend the tray from brackets or metal surfaces. These allow the tray to hang at an angle, making it easy to access and rearrange cables without removing the tray. They can support up to 10–15 kg depending on the design and are often made from robust steel alloys with...
